ECA

Excellence in Electrotechnical & Engineering Services

About ECA membership

ECA is the UK's leading membership body for the electrotechnical and wider engineering services industry. We offer membership to organisations who have achieved the highest levels of certification across all aspects of electrotechnical design, installation, inspection, maintenance, testing and monitoring.

What's more, ECA continues to strive to improve industry standards. Together with our Members and partners we build strong relationships with policymakers and key stakeholders to advocate for a safer and fairer industry.

Become an ECA Member and take advantage of the suite of comprehensive benefits and services we provide, including industry-leading expertise, support, and representation.
