

Join us at one of our EcoStruxure Power Innovation days in 2019!

SUPPORTED BY:

In 2019, Schneider Electric will be hosting a number of events throughout the UK focusing on the paradigm shift in power distribution & the impact on modern electrical engineering.

We will be highlighting how we can collaborate with you at each stage of a typical construction process from initial design through to installation and operate and maintain. Ultimately we want to showcase how we can save you and your customers time and money.

Supported by industry leading bodies IET & ECA, get your questions ready for our industry and product experts.

Not only this, but to finish the day off you will have the option of taking a tour around the location!

We are hosting 10 of these events across the UK in 2019.
